ARMISTICE DAY * COMMEMORATION.

BISHOP OF VICTORIA'S SERMON ON "THE GREAT SILENCE."

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT THE CENOTAPH.

POPPY SELLERS REAP RICH HARVEST FOR EX-SERVICE MEN'S FUND.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when the signal gun boomed, all movement in Hongkong ceased. The Colony, in common with all parts of the British Empire, spent two minutes in reverent silence in tribute to those who had made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War.

Our recognition of Armistice Day was, as usual, marked by solemn commemoration and joyous celebration. There was Holy Communion at the Cathedral at 7.45 a.m. and a special Armistice Service at 9.45 a.m. at which the Bishop of Victoria, the Rt. Rev. C. R. Duppy preached a forceful sermon on the meaning of "The Great Silence." Special services were held in many other Churches. The ceremony of laying wreaths upon the Cenotaph was a very impressive one and was attended by a large concourse of people. Wreaths were deposited by H.E. The Governor, the Army, the Navy, by Ex-Service Men and representatives of numerous local organisations. Up till noon the streets were thronged with ladies selling poppies on behalf of Earl Haig's Ex-Service Men's Fund and a rich harvest was garnered.

From noon onwards the day was given over to holiday making. A football match was played in the afternoon in aid of Earl Haig's Fund and there were many cricket matches. In the evening the Ex-Service Men's Association held their annual dinner. There was the usual fancy-dress dinner dance at the Hongkong Hotel and a Poppy Day Carnival at the Victoria Recreation Club. All European shops and business houses were closed throughout the day.

THE CATHEDRAL SERVICE.

Among those present at the special service at the Cathedral were H.E. The Governor (Mr. Cecil Clementi, C.M.G.), attended by his A.D.C., Captain G. E. Swinton, M.C., Mrs. Clementi and two children: Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., C.M.G., Col. C. Russell Brown, D.S.O. (Acting General Officer Commanding the Forces in China), Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., and Lady Pollock, Mr. H. H. J. Gompertz (Acting Chief Justice), and the Hon. Mr. P. H. Holyoak and Mrs. Holyoak.

The lesson was read by the Rev. J. H. Johnston.

THE BISHOP'S SERMON.

The Bishop of Victoria preached upon the subject of "The Great Silence," taking as his text the words in Revelation VIII. 1. "There was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour."

The supreme moments in life, said the Bishop, are the silent moments—we are so made that when we feel most we cannot speak: we are silent. And in the life of Christ we may say that the supreme moments were the silent moments—the silence of the Wilderness, the silence of the Garden of Gethsemane, the silence of the Cross. "Seven times He spoke seven words of love and all three hours His silence cried." It is in silence most often that God speaks to man. It is in silence that the great things fashion themselves.

And to-day there is a great silence going round the earth "following the sun and keeping company with the hours." In thronged cities you will find it—there in Whitehall, at the heart of our Empire, where some of us watched the Peace Procession on a day that we can never forget. And in solitary places—in some lone outpost of Empire where only the three or four can come together. Twelve months have sped by since last this silence circled round the world. Seven years have gone since there came upon this earth a strange silence, and the monotonous booming of the guns ceased, and the work of human slaughter was ended. Men's hearts went up to God in thankfulness on that day for there were few who had not some thought of God Most High then.

THE MEANING OF THE SILENCE.

There are some I suppose to whom the great silence of to-day is merely a matter of routine—something purely conventional and mechanical. For the Great War is already fading from men's memories: its lessons and its sacrifices are already half forgotten. But to most of us the silence of to-day is instinct with meaning and purpose. This silence stands to us for the commemoration of a great sacrifice. For a moment earth's babel sounds are hushed as we listen in proud silence and with bowed heads to a great and sacrificial chapter from the book of life. We commemorate a sacrificial offering of men and women who went out to die for something which they loved, something which they did not see, and we have not seen fulfilled. And in our silence we look beyond the things of time to that which time's rude hand can never touch. We see to-day not simply great multitudes of dry bones, broken bodies, and white cross-roads graves but a vast triumphant host giving thanks to God Most High in joyfulalleluiahs. We think not merely of the sacrifice these our brethren made, but of Him who by His death hath destroyed death and by His rising again has restored to us everlasting life, who has not suffered these young lives, so unspeakably precious, to be cast as rubbish to the void. Our minds to-day dwell not only on a great sacrifice but on the Providence that is behind history. We aver our unshaken confidence in the triumph of the good, in a justice that does not sleep, and in a loving kindness that never grows weary.

This silence also stands to us for our dedication to a great Purpose. The silence of to-day means to us the commemoration of a great sacrifice, but if it means only this it is not enough. It must inspire us to dedicate our lives to the thing for which these our brothers died. The bodies of the dead come back to sound their challenge to the living. I think few things that have been written are more caustic than Alfred Noyes' lines on the Victory Ball. The ballroom is full, the dancing is eager, the music sounds forth joyously. But suddenly there come to that Victory Ball the shades of those who had died only a few hours before:—

Shadows of dead men stand by the wall

Watching the fun of the Victory Ball.

God, how that dead boy gapes and grins

As the tom-toms bang and "the shimmy" begins.

"What did you think we should find," said a shade,

"When the last shot echoed and peace was made?"

"Christ," laughed the fleshless jaws of his friend,

"I thought they'd be praying for worlds to mend."

"Pish," said a statesman, standing near,

"I'm glad they can busy their thoughts elsewhere!"

We mustn't reproach them, they're young you see."

"Ah," said the dead man, "so were we."

Victory! Victory! on with the dance! Back to the jungle the new beasts prance!

God how these dead men grin by the wall.

Watching the fun of the Victory Ball.

What I want to ask is this: Has that peace of Alfred Noyes' no rebuke for us to-day? Are we lightly going to say that all the talk we used to hear about making the world a better world and about universal peace is vain talk?

MAILED FIST OR RULE OF CHRIST.

The issue that has yet to be decided is which is to triumph the mailed fist or the rule of Christ? A hundred years ago men thought that education, science, commerce would inevitably bring about such a progress of humanity as would lead to universal peace. But all these hopes have been shattered by that pitiless break in human brotherhood which we call the Great War. And I often wonder whether we are not heading precisely the same way to-day. The monarchies of Europe have fallen with a crash and with their collapse there is danger of society finding itself without any principle of authority whatever, and the result is people are becoming a prey to any adventurers who are strong enough to impose their will. Views that must lead to catastrophe are being widely accepted and masses of people are failing to see that peace which comes from the adoption of the policy of world revolution and armed dictatorships is a peace of utter desolation and universal ruin. Nothing imposed on men from without can ever last, only that which men freely accept. Secular solutions are no solutions. Man is spirit and can only be redeemed by the costly method of individual conversion. That is the principle for which Christianity steadily stands. Only look far enough and you will see that the ultimate cause of all the catastrophes and miseries of our time is the entire lack among the great masses of men of any theory of the universe, any clear view of God's purpose in history and in individual life. What people are failing to see is that a civilisation which has been built up upon Christian principles depends upon Christianity for its continuance: that there cannot be good without God. There is a plain issue before us: the choice between accepting the governance of Christ or no government at all. Civilisation without God, will destroy itself. We dare not face the prospect of an irreligious world. Two principles are struggling for supremacy to-day, the principle embodied in the League of Nations and the principle of the mailed fist. If the principle of the mailed fist is to have the victory then it means race-killings and the result will be that the hour will soon come when we shall not even have hovels to live in but only graves. To-day something old is passing and something new is being born for the world or was of the whole world. The question to be decided is whether society is to be based on self-love or on the true regard for God and man, whether the world is to be a battlefield for opposing armies or a home for a family, a community of all races and classes and individuals!

ANOTHER GREAT SILENCE.

The silence of to-day speaks to us of another silence. In the matchless words of Thomas à Kempis—"The time will come when the Master of Masters will appear, Christ the Lord of Angels. (Continued on page 3.)

ARMISTICE DAY.

When He will search Jerusalem with candles and the hidden things of darkness shall be manifest and the strife of tongues shall be still. There will be an hour when all tumult and all toil will cease. Do therefore that thou dost. Labour manfully in my vineyard I will be Thy reward. Write, read, sing, mourn, keep silence, pray, hear like a man all that is against Thee. There is that which is worth all these and greater sacrifices—everlasting life.

After the sermon, the congregation sang "For all the Saints" and buglers from the East Surrey Regiment sounded the "Last Post" and "Reveille," which was followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

The Blessing pronounced by Bishop W. Banister concluded the service.

The collection was taken on behalf of Earl Haig's Fund.

WREATH Laid.

The Choir and Clergy, and a number of the members of the congregation then went in procession to the War Memorial outside the Cathedral, where His Excellency the Governor placed a wreath.

FRENCH SERVICE.

At 9 o'clock the French community held a special service at the French Mission Headquarters. Practically all members of the local French community were present, headed by the Consul-General for France (Monsieur Yves du Courthial).

The service was also attended by the Commander and officers of the French gunboat in port.

AT THE CENOTAPH.

The ceremony at the Cenotaph was an impressive one. Long before eleven o'clock, the people had gathered in hundreds. Statue square was filled to overflowing and the verandahs of the Hongkong Club were crowded.

Amongst those present were H.E. the Governor (Mr. Cecil Clementi, C.M.G.) and Mrs. Clementi, Capt. Swinton, M.C. (A.D.C. to the Governor), Sir Matthew Nathan, P.C., K.C.M.G. (a former Governor of Hongkong), Hon. Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., C.M.G., Sir Edwyn Alexander Sinclair, K.C.B., Col. Russell Brown, D.S.O., the Rt. Rev. C. B. Duppuy (Bishop of Victoria), members of the Executive and Legislative Council, Hon. Sir H. E. Pollock, K.C., Hon. Mr. P. H. Holyoak, Hon. Mr. Chow Shou Son, Hon. Mr. H. W. Bird, Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, Mr. A. G. M. Fletcher, K.C.M.G., C.B.E., Hon. Mr. A. O. Lang, Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, Dr. J. B. Addison (P.C.M.O.), Mr. Justice Gompertz and Mr. Justice Wood, members of the Consular Body, M. Yves du Courthial (France and Belgium), Vice-Consul A. L. Alves (Brazil), Mr. Karsten Larsen (Denmark), Mr. J. P. Braga (Guatemala), Comm. S. Carvares (Italy), Mr. M. J. Quist (Netherlands), Mr. R. C. Tredwell (America), and the Consul-General for Japan, Commodore A. J. B. Stirling, C.B., Lieut.-Comdr. Young, Flag-Capt. W. J. C. Lake, Pay-Mr.-Lieut. E. D. T. Churcher, Lieut.-Col. E. E. B. Mackintosh, D.S.O., Lieut.-Col. F. S. Montague Bates, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Major and Adj.-Lt.-Col. H. Trevelyan, Capt. C. A. Bridgeland, Lieut. A. J. L. Whyte, Majors R. S. S. Paton and J. F. Drake, Capt. W. G. Kent and D. J. Alfreed, Lieuts. J. R. A. Cockayne, R. A. Chidson, E. A. G. Cope and R. S. M. Maynard, Major B. R. Lewis, R.A.M.C., Mr. J. Owen Hughes, Mr. H. R. B. Hancock, Mr. B. M. Dyer, Police Chief Inspector W. Kent, Inspectors Alexander and Lanigan and about thirty European Police Officers and seventy Chinese and Indian constables.

The Surrey Brass Band were the first military contingent to arrive. The buglers and drummers followed them and all took their stand on the side of the Cenotaph facing the prayers. Then came a detachment from the 1st Buff. East Surrey, under Lieut. Chidson and R.S.M. Maynard. They took up their position, with a number of ex-servicemen from the Punjab and Volunteers under Captain Melville Smith to the left of the Memorial. On the right of the cenotaph were Naval men under Commodore Stirling, and a detachment from the Hermes, under Capt. C. P. Talbot, D.S.O., and Comdr. E. O. Broadley, D.S.O. There were also a number of Boy Scouts under the Rev. G. T. Waldegrave (Scout Commissioner).

At ten minutes to eleven, H.E. the Governor, Mr. Cecil Clementi, C.M.G., accompanied by Mrs. Clementi and their two children, and Capt. Swinton, M.C., motored up and were greeted by members of the Legislative Council.

The proceedings opened with the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" following which buglers of the East Surrey sounded the "Last Post." As the last note of that call died away, a gun boomed out on Murray Parade Ground announcing the beginning of the two-minute silence, and all present stood in a solemn silence. The sounding of "Reveille" by the buglers of the East Surrey was the first act to break the silence.

H.E. the Governor then laid a beautiful wreath on the Memorial and his example was followed by representatives of the Navy, Army, Ex-Servicemen, Volunteers, R.O. A.B. Boy Scouts, and various Clubs. There were in all about fifty wreaths, and for almost an hour after the ceremony was over, the people crowded the Memorial examining these floral tributes.

BUSY POPPY SELLERS.

Ladies were early astir with their trays of poppies, and brisk business was done. One young lady in the Hongkong Hotel secured a wonderful start. In exchange for her first emblem she received a cheque for $500. Another most successful "seller" was the decorated donkey with red paniers ridden by Miss Doris Hunt in the garb of a Red Cross nurse.

In Hongkong alone there were more than 40 street sellers. The ladies who gave their services were: Miss Black, Miss Ram, Miss D. Holyoak, Miss J. Holyoak, Miss Hollingsworth, Miss Thwaites, Mrs. L. G. Scott, Miss Stubblings, Miss Weill, Miss Dana, Miss Peck, Mrs. Haslam, Mrs. T. G. Bennett, Mrs. Trevelyan, Mrs. Bourchier, Mrs. Eric Grimble, Miss Chappell, Mrs. Bartholomew, the Misses King, Mrs. Davison, Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Stirling, the Misses Shaw, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Hall, Miss Wyatt, Miss Monroe, Miss C. Monro, Miss Ellis, Miss Cotton, Miss Geoghan, Mrs. Pearce, Miss Stewart, Miss R. Judah, Miss Bailey, Mrs. Dunnett, Miss Dennis, Miss G. Remedios, Mrs. Strelett, Misses McEwen, and the Misses Steel.

AT KOWLOON.

The lady Poppy sellers were just as busy in Kowloon as their fellow workers in Hongkong, and brisk business was done everywhere, but especially at the "Star" Ferry. The lady helpers were: Mrs. Hower, Mrs. Arrowsmith, Mrs. Easterbrook, Mrs. Nightingale, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. Orchard, Misses F. S. and A. Blyth, B. and M. George, E. Mosca, A. Tolan, L. Tolan, E. Donald, D. Hamblin, B. Roberts, J. Anderson, May and Blin, B. Roberts, E. Kynoch, B. Hurst, P. and M. Woolley, G. Roper, Ayres, I. Spradbury, B. Morgan, E. Lammet, K. Nightingale, P. Ogilvie, B. Christiansen, M. Robbins, V. Leckovitch, I. Raymond, K. Chester, M. Scott, P. Ponsford, L. Carr, J. Black, P. Everett, G. Saunders, E. Mead, J. Frank, P. Parker, Pat Easterbrook, A. D'Almada, A. Barnes, J. Smirk, J. Reynolds, D. Smith and Y. Langley.

The ladies were assisted by a large number of the Kowloon Boy Scouts.

THE K.C.C.'S EFFORT.

Another splendid effort for the Poppy Fund yesterday was that of the Kowloon Cricket Club. An auction was held, Mr. W. Goldenberg being the auctioneer, and some lively bidding for poppies was seen. One poppy was bought for $35.

Altogether with the Poppy auction and various raffish the K.C.C. will contribute about $1,000 to the Fund.

HONGKONG HOTEL DANCE.

At the Hongkong Hotel last night the armistice anniversary was celebrated by a fancy dress dinner dance.

There were over four hundred guests present, and although fancy dress was optional, many of the diners and dancers were present in costume.

The Grill Room was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Among those booking tables was H.R.H. Prince George, who entered with enthusiasm into the fun of the evening.

A SUCCESSFUL DAY.

YESTERDAY'S RECEIPTS FROM SALE OF POPPIES.

The street collections in aid of the Poppy Day Fund in Hongkong yesterday amounted to $3,832, while donations were $1,250. In Kowloon about $2,000 was collected. In all there were taken over $7,000, while a lot of money has yet to come in.

The collections in aid of the Fund at the Churches on Sunday last amounted to $201.

ARMISTICE CARNIVAL.

HAPPY NIGHT AT THE V.R.C.

The real spirit of Carnival—the abandonment of care and the earnest purpose of hours of jollity—all were combining features of the Armistice Carnival at the Victoria Recreation Club last night.

Many visitors to the Carnival were struck with the quiet dignity of many of the costumes worn, and in comparison the spirit of gaiety so admirably suggested by others. The ladies, of course, naturally led the way as far as fancy dress was concerned; quaint old fashioned costumes of by-gone days vied with such modern, but wonderful creations, as "Felix the Cat."

The arrangements were well carried out, and the dancing to the music of the "Lyric" Orchestra was thoroughly enjoyable.

A feature of the Carnival was the exhibition of dances given by a party of the Scottish Company of the Volunteers.

There were more than 300 people present, and all voted the carnival a great success.

After midnight various raffish were drawn including the diamond brooch, but the results were too late for publication.

All receipts will be handed to the Poppy Day Fund.

WHY THEY CHOSE THEIR WIVES.

(By W. GREENWOOD.)

When one considers the vital importance of marriage in the lives of men and women it is not a little surprising how few of them can give any clear and satisfactory reason for taking such a serious step. Even when a married man does explain his motives they are often more amusing than convincing.

A North-country clergyman surprised his parishioners by proposing to the "plainer" girl in his parish. When he was asked by a friend what attracted him first to his fiancée, he said: "Well, him first to his fiancée, she is the only girl I have ever met who always takes a beating at tennis with a smile; and I thought she was just the girl for a parson's wife."

Another clergyman married his wife "because she was plain, and candidly admitted it; and because, while, if I may say so, the other girls were always setting their caps at me, she would criticize my faults and my sermons."

A third clergyman admitted that he was first attracted to the girl he married "because she was the only one of my parishioners who seemed to remember anything of my sermons a week after they were delivered and could discuss them intelligently."

A young lawyer recently confessed that he married in order to have a little peace. As he is a man of considerable promise in his profession he was pestered with the attentions of designing women, and he said: "My social mamma told me that, as he said, the life was made a misery to me and the only way to get a little peace was to marry."

One man, to whom music was a bane rather than a blessing, confessed that he married his wife because she was the only girl of his acquaintance who could neither sing nor play and had no wish to learn; while another married his wife because of her exquisite singing and playing, and because she was the only voice that blended perfectly with his.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

EX-ACTIVE SERVICE MEN MEET TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY.

The Ex-Active Service Men's Association Armistice Day anniversary dinner was held last night at the Volunteer Headquarters. Mr. H. J. Pearce presided. About 150 persons were present amongst the guests being Commodore A. J. B. Stirling, the Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy, Capt. Bloxham, Mr. E. W. Carpenter, Lieut. D. C. Rycroft, Mr. H. S. Hill, Mr. W. K. Reynolds and Mr. J. A. Bullock.

THE TOASTS.

After dinner, the loyal toast was proposed by Mr. T. N. MacReynolds.

Before calling upon Mr. Gordon Leask to propose the toast of the Services, the president said that several persons had written expressing their regret at their inability to attend. Amongst these were H.R.H. Prince George, H.E. the Governor (Mr. Cecil Clementi, C.M.G.), Hon. Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., C.M.G., Colonel L. G. Bird, D.S.O., and Colonel C. Russell Brown, D.S.O.

Capt. T. Laurensen, their president had sent the following message: "Success to Easmas; I hope you will have an excellent time at your dinner to-night. (Cheers.)"

Mr. Leask proposing the toast of the Services said that he considered it a great pleasure and honour to be asked to do so. The Services were usually considered to be the Navy, Army, and Air forces, but looking round he could see other services as well, for example the P.W.D., a service which could always make their presence felt. The Navy were felt by the salute at various times and they always knew their purport. Continuing, he said that living in Kowloon he knew that the Army was there because the Panjabis were in the habit of marching past at 5.15 in the morning. (Laughter.) Their air force was represented by H.M.S. Hermes and they also knew they were here and especially early in the morning. (Laughter.) However, they were glad that they were in the Colony, and they were also greatly honoured in having members of the services present at the function. When a man became a he looked back to the time when he hadn't the prefix. But even a man who is an ex-convict found pleasure in it. (Laughter.) But the ex-active services were still active. Concluding, he said that he felt quite unworthy to propose the toast and wished the Services all prosperity. (Cheers.)

NAVY'S REPLY.

Commodore Stirling, replying on behalf of the Navy, said that the recent troubles had been rather more than they could compete with and they had to rely on all kinds of little craft which hardly belonged to the Navy. He, however, felt that old traditions would be kept up. He thanked the assembly very much indeed for this toast to the Navy.

THE ARMY'S APPEAL.

Col. Trevelyan, replying for the Army, appealed to those present to retain the old spirit, for the Regulars must always look to such as they in the event of trouble. They were only a handful, but a handful kept the Germans back in the Great War, and he impressed upon them that the Army looked to them to stand by. (Cheers.)

THE SILENT TOAST.

Mr. S. C. Feltham, proposing the Silent Toast, said that it was the anniversary of a great and glorious day, and their thoughts went back to the friends and comrades they had left behind in great glory and everlasting memory. Before the toast was drunk the "Last Post" was sounded.

RESPECT FOR EASMA.

Mr. Bullock, toasting the Association, said that the Ex-Active Service Men's Association was held in the greatest respect by everybody. It had great possibilities, and should prove valuable to everybody who had served in His Majesty's Forces. He, however, felt that there was not more enthusiasm the Association would not exist in twenty years, and he would therefore like to see it open to all active service men. He hoped that its existence would be permanent.

Mr. Pearce, replying, said that he could not reply to Mr. Bullock's criticism, but it would receive the consideration it merited. He then gave a brief history of the Association. Concluding, he said he was sorry that Sir Claud Severn could not be present, but on behalf of the Association, he wished him God-speed on his homeward voyage and hoped they would see him again. (Cheers.)

Mr. R. S. Moore proposed the toast to the Visitors and the Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy replied.

Musical selections were provided by the Orchestra of H.M.S. Titanic, by permission of Capt. R. T. H. Baker, D.S.O., R.N. Vocal items were given by Cpl. O. Olive, R.A.M.C., Sub-Cdr. P. W. Hoole, R.A.O.C., Messrs. Grenham, Mitchell and Probert, Sgt. E. T. Andrews, and R.A.O.C. Sgt. W. Saunders, R.A.O.C., and monologues by Sapper D. Fippard, R.E. W.D. Instr. J. Licence, A.E.C., was the pianist. The programme was arranged by Mr. R. J. Hunt, and was the means of a most enjoyable evening being spent.

THE LURE OF THE FILMS.

(By IRIS BARRY.)

Everything that can be said against the cinema has been said often. Nevertheless, people pay 50,000,000 visits a week to the pictures in Great Britain alone. Why?

Primarily they go for effortless relaxation. But that does not explain much. The truth is that the cinema offers an expansion of the individual's horizon which nothing else can give. In the course of an evening the man in the street can almost become a citizen of the world. He can see more clearly than if he were an actual spectator race meetings, volcanic eruptions, eminent persons, and landscapes from California to Jerusalem.

He can even see the past, whether it be the deeply-moving past of reality as films like "Ypres" re-creates it, or the romantic past of an historical piece like "Helen of Troy." And if he be of a reflective mind he can learn as much of German, French, and American mentality as many another who has travelled widely.

Not content with turning home-keeping youths and maidens into sedentary globe-trotters, the cinema gives them as well the tears and laughter, the suspense and relief which the monotony of daily life denies. Doctors agree on this, that pleasurable and painful emotions are positively beneficial in the right amount, and that to watch Chaplin dangle comically over a precipice or Jennings suffer humiliations and triumphs as an hotel commissionaire is the finest tonic, the best gland-stimulant and emotional safety-valve that could possibly be devised.

But we need more than a widening of outlook or a healthy jolt to our feelings, for man craves that unanalysable ideal we call beauty. This, too, the cinema gives, though not so generously as one hopes it will in the future. It is too occupied with merely making money just now.

Even so, a fugitive beauty flits here and there across the screen. Sometimes it is a purely visual beauty which comes magically into trite stuff—a group of common kitchen utensils seen by the camera as by the eye of an artist, a glimpse of a great ship at sea, a woman moving with rhythmic beauty across the prairie.

Sometimes it is a richer psychological beauty, a flash of true beauty such as beauty, the closing scene of Strife in "Greed" gives, or of the more far-reaching movement such as is radiated by Fairbanks at his best.

STUDENTS ENTERTAIN H.E. THE GOVERNOR.

MR. CECIL CLEMENTI AT THE UNIVERSITY.

GOVERNOR'S VIEW ON SCHOOLBOYS' STRIKE FOLLY.

The Hongkong University Union entertained H.E. The Governor (Mr. Cecil Clementi, C.M.G.), the new Chancellor, to tea at the University yesterday afternoon, when he was welcomed by the chairman of the Union. His Excellency was accompanied by Sir Matthew Nathan, late Governor of Queensland, who is on a visit to Hongkong, and is staying at Government House.

During the afternoon tea was served, and a musical programme was provided by the students.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Mr. Ma Char Zur, the chairman of the Union, welcomed H.E. the Governor and Sir Matthew Nathan, and said that in February last year they had the honour of entertaining three Vice-Chancellors, and to-day they had the signal honour of entertaining two Governors. (Hear, hear.) This was the first time in the history of the University that the undergraduates voluntarily, out of their enthusiasm for a great man, had created an occasion on which to entertain the Chancellor. It was a matter of pride to them that they should be amongst the first to welcome His Excellency. H.E. the Governor was not only a physical giant, but an intellectual giant of world wide renown. He was a distinguished scholar, author, traveller, explorer and administrator. As a matter of fact he wrote the University anthem which was about the only thing they could boast of at present and which only Dr. Pearce understood. In welcoming His Excellency he was sure he was welcoming one who could be relied on to heed the crying needs of the University. Throughout its infancy the University had been crying, and until recently the undergraduates and the staff members had been weeping and waiting together. The staff ceased when the Superannuation Scheme was carried out, extra quarters for staff members promised and 18 months' long leave freely granted. But the undergraduates were still mulling in their nurses' arms. They were not such a band of scoundrels and rascals as some people thought they were.

With the coming of Mr. Clementi they saw an era of prosperity for the University. So far they had been living for and dreaming about the Boxer Indemnity money, and they hoped that His Excellency would get for them a substantial portion of that money. (Hear, hear.) His Excellency was interested in the University and they hoped they would find in him a practical supporter of the University such as they had never had before. On behalf of the University Union, he welcomed Mr. Clementi here with them and wished him success in his administration of the Colony. He would wish Sir Matthew Nathan every happiness in his retirement.

H.E. THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS.

His Excellency the Governor, who was received with loud and prolonged applause on rising to speak, said: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Vice-Chancellor, ladies and gentlemen,—It has been a very real pleasure to me to come among you this afternoon, and I thank you for the welcome you have extended to Sir Matthew Nathan and myself and for the entertainment you have given us. My interest in your University dates from its first beginning for I was much concerned in the negotiations which led to its foundation and its original endowment, and I was present in this Great Hall at its inauguration. (Applause.) I had also, while in British Guiana, the honour of receiving from your former Chancellor, Sir Henry May, an intimation that this University wished to confer upon me its degree of LL.D. and enquiring whether I could attend to receive the degree in person. I had regretfully to reply that I then saw no hope of being able to revisit Hongkong. As however, I am now once again in Hongkong and am even your Chancellor, I am glad to have this early opportunity of assuring you of my abiding interest in your University, and I hope that if fortune so far favours me I may be able to dry some of those tears of which your Chairman spoke as being shed by the staff and undergraduates (laughter) and even perhaps to secure for you a portion of the Boxer Indemnity to which you aspire. (Applause.) I also rejoice at having this opportunity to you my great appreciation of the very loyal manner in which you have supported your

Alma Mater throughout the troubles in which this Colony is at present involved. (Applause.) Schoolboy folly, as I learn with indignation, made the first gesture in the recent strike and deliberately flouted both education and authority, but the undergraduates of the Hongkong University knew better than to participate in a movement so stupid and so injurious to everyone who has been misled into joining it. (Hear, hear.)

AN ANTIDOTE FOR BOLSHIEVISM.

In each of its various manifestations this strike has done nothing but harm, but its most outrageous absurdity was the strike against education. After all, what is education? I should like to define it as a process which aims at drawing out from every human being the utmost which he or she is capable of giving in the cause of humanity. (Applause.) I would lay stress upon this word "humanity" and remind you of a famous phrase in the Chinese classics "Within the four seas all are brothers." (Applause.) Anything more alien to the spirit of Confucianism than the recent happenings in South China, and particularly the schoolboy strike, I find it difficult to conceive. Allow me, therefore, to congratulate you warmly on the attitude taken up and maintained throughout these troubles by the undergraduates of the Hongkong University. It has been a very great encouragement to those who desire to see the cause of higher learning advanced, for it shows that you in incipient manhood have already put boyish folly behind you, that you have the courage of your convictions and that you are able to see through the specious fallacies of Bolshhevik propaganda. (Applause.) Many centuries ago your own fellow countrymen Confucius and Mencius saw far more deeply into the social and ethical needs of China than any Bolshhevik emissary of to-day, and I commend to you a close study of the Chinese classics as a very wholesome antidote to much poisonous doctrine which is being spread abroad at the present time from interested motives by men who have at heart neither the good of China nor of mankind at large. (Applause.)

This is Armistice Day, and it is well for us to remember that in the Great War Britain and China espoused the same cause. (Applause.) As for Hongkong, not only during the Great War, but for many decades before and in all the years that have followed it, this Colony has been animated by feelings of the most sincere friendship towards China at large and the Cantonese in particular. (Hear, hear.) The present situation from which Canton and Hongkong alike suffer is in no way due to any act either of commission or omission by the Government or the people of Hongkong, therefore, I hope that on this auspicious day those now in authority at Canton will reconsider their position and again hold out the hand of friendship to Hongkong. If they do, we shall clasp it warmly and endeavour by cordial co-operation to remedy the harm which has been done by the boycott.

Gentlemen, I look forward to seeing much of you during the coming months and to acquainting myself with your studies and learning something of your aims and aspirations, and I desire to assure you of my sincere sympathy and whole-hearted support in all that tends to advance the welfare of this University. (Loud applause.)

SIR MATTHEW NATHAN'S SPEECH.

Sir Matthew Nathan, addressing the gathering, said: I assure you that it was with no idea of speaking here this afternoon that I accompanied H.E. the Governor on his first visit to the University of which he is Chancellor. Only very recently I was speaking to the undergraduates of the University of which I am Chancellor—the University from which I am now on leave, as well as from the Government of another state. I am devoting my leave firstly, to idling, and secondly to travelling—both of which are pleasant occupations. (Laughter.) I am seeing some of the countries of the world that it has not been my good fortune to visit in my long years of service, and especially did I want to see China, which will be new to me, as hitherto I have only visited Canton. To see China I had to pass through Hongkong, and I welcomed the opportunity of putting in a few days here owing to my affection for this Colony, with which I had a long ago connection, owing to the interest I have always since felt in it and owing to my desire to see the changes made since I left 13 years ago. I have been fortunate here in having had the opportunity of appreciating what is probably the biggest of all the new things in the Colony—the University of Hongkong. (Applause.) I look upon it as the most important, for, after all you here are the people who are going to help make the world of the future. My time and the time of my contemporaries is passed and disappearing and it is you that so passing we salute—you young people. I have heard a great deal of the University, originally from the Governor who was here at its foundation, Sir Frederick Lugard, to whom its existence is very largely due. I know how tremendously keen he was about it from various conversations I had with him. It is very pleasant to see one's successors doing bigger things than one has done oneself. After all, unless they do there can be no progress in the world—unless each succeeding generation does better than the generation before it. I personally believe that progress—physical, intellectual, even moral—is going on all the time. Statistics tell us of greater longevity, which means physical progress; I do not think that anyone denies there has been constant intellectual advance, and I believe that in spite of all the evil happenings in the world that there is still moral progress and that it is really becoming better. People are becoming more friendly with each other and there is a general advance in happiness, and I have no doubt but that this University will do its share in contributing to this advance here and so indirectly throughout the world.

Referring to each of us delighting to realise that those who come after us are excelling us in what we have done I have already mentioned Sir Frederick Lugard. I know something of the great work of each of his successors, and with perfect confidence I may say I know that better than any of us in helping on this Colony, as well as its University, will be your present Chancellor, my old friend Mr. Clementi. I may say I am delighted to have been associated with his first visit to the University, and I may add that I am very grateful for the pleasant entertainment you have given to us this afternoon and for the kind references that have been made to myself.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S THANKS.

The Vice-Chancellor (Mr. W. W. Hornell) expressed thanks to His Excellency and Sir Matthew Nathan on behalf of both the Union and the University. The real sympathy of a man like his Excellency was going to mean a great deal to them. They ploughed a lonely furrow and were sometimes dazed and often despondent, and yet they knew, to misquote Bernard Shaw, that the real joy in life was the reward for a purpose recognised by themselves as a mighty one. They wanted to be a force of good and not feverish, selfish little clods of elements complaining that the world did not devote itself to make them happy.

"The University of Hongkong," continued the Vice-Chancellor, "like all true Universities aims at training gentlemen in the truest sense of that much abused term. Those of us who are in authority here rejoice in the courtesy and goodwill which in spite of the storms which rage round about us, still animate the students of this University. (Applause.) We believe that it is in this spirit of courtesy and goodwill, and in this spirit alone, that Hongkong, nay China, will find the issue from its present afflictions. We remember that it was as he was setting out his idea of the University that Cardinal Newman wrote, 'that it was almost a definition of a gentleman to say that he was one who never inflicts pain.' 'He seldom,' continued the Cardinal, 'speaks of himself except when compelled, never defends himself by a mere retort, he has no ears for slander or gossip, he is scrupulous in imputing motives to those who interfere with him and interprets everything at its best. He is never mean or little in his disputes, never takes an unfair advantage, never mistakes personalities or sharp sayings for arguments, never insinuates, evil which he dare not say out. He has too much good sense to be worried by insults, he is too well employed to remember injuries and too indolent to bear malice. He is patient, forbearing and resigned. He submits to pain because it is inevitable, to bereavement because it is irreparable, to death because it is his destiny.' Your Excellency, the Union is the centre of the social life of the students of this University. We all want that life to be as free and generous as possible. If the

EXTRA-TERRITORIALITY IN CHINA.

MR. H. G. W. WOODHEAD'S VIEWS.

A paper on the subject of extra-territoriality in China was read by Mr. H. G. W. Woodhead, editor of the "China Year Book," before a meeting of the Central Asian Society at the Royal United Service Institution, Whitehall, on October 8th, at which Sir Michael O'Dwyer presided.

The lecturer recalled that there were three reasons why extra-territoriality was originally necessary—(a) the Chinese then regarded all foreigners as "barbarians," to be treated as such and confined to one port; (b) the differences between Chinese law and foreign law were great, especially with regard to homicide; (c) the Chinese believed in, and their laws were based on, the doctrine of collective responsibility.

Stating the arguments for abolishing extra-territoriality, Mr. Woodhead said that extra-territoriality constituted an infringement of China's rights and independence, and led to a multiplicity of jurisdictions and the application of different laws. The greatest objection to it was its abuse, chiefly by Governments which had very insignificant interests in China. One Consulate seems to have made a specialty of extending its protection, and another existed chiefly to extend its jurisdiction to various gaming establishments. The scandal was the subject of a resolution condemning it at the annual conference of the British Chamber of Commerce in 1921. Finally, there was the objection that, as long as extra-territoriality prevailed, the Chinese Government could not throw open the whole country to foreign trade.

In 1922 a definite stipulation was made regarding the possibility of abolishing extra-territoriality, which has always been resented by patriotic Chinese. In 1919, at Versailles, China formally demanded its abolition; the Peace Conference did not take up the question, but it was raised again at the Washington Conference, and was the subject of a resolution.

It must be remembered that Great Britain, America, and Japan had undertaken to give up their extra-territorial rights when the state of the Chinese laws, the arrangements for their administration, and other considerations warranted them in so doing. At the present time the Chinese Civil Code had in many parts become obsolete, and a new penal code was enacted in 1912, far ahead of the social conditions of a large part of the territory, and not applied in remote corners of the provinces, and is sometimes ignored even in Peking.

There were two other very important points—Civil officials were virtually immune from the law of the land, and the military, from the highest to the lowest ranks, could only be tried by Courts-martial for any offence whatever. It should be remembered that there were one and a half million men under arms in China to-day and that they were the most notorious offenders of the law. Under existing conditions no attempt was being made, nor could it be made, to enforce the laws of the Republic. The Law Codification might work overtime compiling new codes, but even in Peking itself the Courts were unable to enforce them. The administration of justice could only be considered to be non-existent. The Provincial Courts were mostly under the control of the military, in power in the district, and on the whole, matters were far worse than they were when extra-territorial rights were granted in the middle of the last century. Torture and summary executions were frequent occurrences.

The lecturer remarked that irresponsible Chinamen clamoured for the abolition of extra-territoriality, but they looked into the foreign concessions for safety whenever a civil war was in progress, and he quoted a Chinese veteran missionary as saying, on the subject of the abolition of extra-territoriality: "This state of liberty, this security of life and property, this immunity from torture and from official oppression and corruption which foreign Governments demand from China for their subjects, we Chinese have to seek for ourselves. We shall not get it by first depriving the foreigner of it, or by subjecting him to all the injustice to which our own nationals are subject."

Mr. H. G. Simms, formerly of Shanghai, on behalf of the business community in China, voiced his agreement with the speaker's conclusion that the time was not yet ripe for the abolition of extra-territoriality, whilst, however, the British in China felt every sympathy with Chinese aspirations. Dr. Harry Vaughan and Major-General Sir Neill Malcolm also spoke, and the chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was heartily accorded.

members of this University could, as they go out into the world beyond, take with them, as it is my confident hope that they can and will take, something of that spirit of life and conversation which inspired Cardinal Newman to write those words which I have just quoted—words which burn themselves into the mind—then assuredly this University for all its many and misdeeds, its defects will be doing something towards the deliverance of humanity from those evils which are now so sorely besetting not merely China but the world. (Applause.)

RED POLICY IN SWATOW.

GENERAL CHIANG KAI SHEK OUTLINES HIS PROGRAMME.

RESTORATION OF A. L. LABOUR UNIONS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

It was Chiang Kai Shek who arrived on Friday in company with General Gullant, Commander-in-Chief of the Eastern Wing of the Grande Armée, and a staff of eight Russian Officers.

Rumour has it that this Eastern force is going to push up into Fukien almost immediately, chase the Anti-Reds out of that Province, establish control over Amoy, Foochow and the large cities of the hinterland and then go through into Chekiang. To us this sounds an ambitious project, involving great extension and greater vulnerability of the "Red" lines of communication. Chiang Kai Shek, however, is a Chekiang man and if he has made up his mind to go home he will doubtless achieve his end. Who is there to stop him going through to Shanghai and establishing control along the coastline of the Maritime Provinces from Shanghai to Canton? From what little we have seen of the actual fighting units of the "Red" Army we judge them to be fairly well disciplined, of good physique and ably led. Judging solely by their appearance on parade and on the march I should say they are vastly superior to any troops ever before seen in South China.

While the Expeditionary Force goes on its way conquering, though we very much doubt if there will be anyone to conquer until Shanghai is reached, Swatow is to be left in charge of a Military Commission—Chiu Ng Lai—and a Civil Governor or Tuptan—Ho Eng Khim. The latter is at present in command of the First Division of the Eastern Force.

It is reported that Seng Lak Meng, late head of the Seamen's Union in this district, is to be appointed Chief of Police. Tang Kon Meng, the late Labour leader, is Mayor and his rival Kwah Yang Koh, magistrate of Hoifung.

The initial demand made to the Chamber of Commerce by the "Red" party is for $150,000, of which $50,000 had been paid in cash up to Saturday morning. I hear that the local Chamber was agreeably surprised at the modesty of the figure demanded. This is not to be wondered at since the Chamber of Commerce official estimate of the total amount "squeezed" out of the Chao-Mei territory in 46 days by the Anti-Reds was little short of six million dollars. Such a colossal figure is scarcely credible yet. I have the word of a leading Chamber of Commerce Committee man that it is correct.

STEAMERS.

No definite policy has come to light though we understand that the Higgin, which left on Friday for Hongkong, will not be allowed to discharge or load for that port in future.

A story is current to the effect that a new shipping company has just been started with an office here to act as agents for Russian steamers, presumably units of the old Volynets Fleet.

JAPANESE SHIPPING.

Monday, November 9th.
The Hoson Maru arrived from Hongkong this morning with cargo for Swatow. The authorities have stopped all work alongside ordering that no import cargo has to be discharged nor export cargo loaded. This is in direct contravention of the recent Japanese settlement. As reported previously we anticipated some such occurrence, and are not greatly surprised at the repudiation considering that the Japanese settlement was instigated and concluded by and with the Anti-Red Party. The Japanese Consul is at present making representations to the authorities and I hope to report the result by next mail.

REFERENCES TO HONGKONG.

On Saturday a grand parade of welcome was held on the ground in front of the Law Courts and the following is a translation of some of the speeches. The deliberately open attack by all the speakers on the British in general and Hongkong in particular should, in our opinion, be given the utmost publicity both in the East and at Home. If an effort in this direction is forthcoming from Hongkong we propose to send the translations together with a résumé of recent local events to the Home Press. Upwards of 10,000 persons representing sixty-nine unions, schools, political institutions, administrative organs, etc., attended this parade and the harm done by the inflammatory propaganda poured into their ears is incalculable.

Chief Director Chiu Un Lai was the first to speak. After expressing thanks for the welcome on behalf of the entire Eastern Expeditionary Force, he said:—The occasion was worthy of commemoration for two reasons. In the first place, there was the popular rejoicing of the entire territory over the success of the Expedition, and in the second place the fact happened to be the Anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

Swatow, November 8th.
Continuing, he said: The order of the Revolutionary Troops had received from the Nationalist Government in connection with the Eastern Expedition was to overthrow the militarists, Chan Kwing Ming, Hung Chao Lin and Lin Fu, the pawns of the Imperialism of the British Hongkong Government. The many and varied disasters, distresses, sufferings, and other perils that the Kwangtung Province had undergone for the past many years were entirely the work of Chan Kwing Ming and his followers. For this reason they should overthrow Chan Kwing Ming's militarism as well as Imperialism.

Commander Ho Yiu Kan of the 1st Division of the Eastern Expedition Forces was the next to address the audience. In the beginning of his speech, he asked his hearers to distinguish the Kuomintang troops and the soldiers known by other names or serving under other factions. The Kuomintang troops, he said, could be easily identified by the fact that they were the real protectors of the land and were fighting for freedom and equality, on behalf of the people, who should co-operate with them to place the Chinese race on an equal footing with the other races of the world. In elucidation of this point, he went on: "During the last decade or so, the Chinese race has been treated like horses and cattle, as a result of the action of our own Imperialistic warlords, and in consequence of the oppression of Unequal Treaties. If the bondage of these Unequal Treaties was not broken off, they never would be liberated. Take the Maritime Customs Administration for instance. Had not that Institution simply been seized from the hand of China? The loss of the control of that administration was a serious one. There were the railways and the steam navigation in China that had been put under the same restrictions and forced away from their control. How were they to rid themselves of these foreign oppressions? They might ask, 'Well, in order to repulse those oppressors, they had to start a Nationalist Revolution.'

GENERAL CHIANG KAI SHEK.

General Chiang Kai Shek then began: "We are honoured beyond what we deserve by this grand reception. Let us see what we have for celebration on the present occasion. There is the warm and hearty welcome you so kindly wish to extend to us. Let us ask that you unite with us in addition to the welcome. On behalf of the Nationalist Revolutionary troops, I beg to welcome you all to our troops. Think a second, gentlemen. Our troops have seized Chao-Mei within a very brief period of time. Was this the work of the troops? No, no. If you people of the land had not helped us, we could never have captured the districts so easily. Seeing that you are so friendly with us, we believe that our Nationalist Revolution will be successful without much trouble. It will be very easy for us to overthrow Imperialism. I believe that the farmers, labourers, merchants, and scholars here should form themselves into a strong union to work out the Nationalist Revolution, so that the success may be closer at hand. I like to take the present opportunity to report to you that the Kuomintang Revolutionary troops now in charge of Swatow will carry out the following in connection with their revolutionary work here:

1. Restoration of all Labour Unions.
2. Restoration of all self-governing organizations of various classes of people.
3. Institution of our own National Assembly here.
4. Abolition of all Unequal Treaties now still in force here.
5. Prohibition of Gambling and Opium Smoking.
6. Recall of Control over the Maritime Customs.

"That is the main skeleton of the work that our troops here will soon be engaged in. Please do your best to assist us, so that we may reach our object sooner. There is another word I wish to speak to you on this occasion. The Anniversary of the Russian Revolution happens to fall on this day. We should rejoice on this Anniversary because the success of the Russian Revolution is the success of the Chinese Revolution. If the Russian Revolution had failed, we could not have this Revolution amongst us. Let us then acclaim: 'Long Live the Success of the Russian Revolution.' 'Long Live the Success of the Chinese Revolution.' 'Long Live the Success of the Revolution of the World.' 'Long Live the People of Swatow.'"

Mr. Lo Ka-chiao-fu, also spoke. When the Reception came to its end, the entire audience marched out of the meeting ground in double file, and paraded through all the streets of the city.

STEAMERS DISCHARGING.

November 10th.
The steamers held up yesterday—Hoson Maru, Phanang and Hoi Cheong—are now discharging cargo. It is reported that the Chinese Chamber of Commerce has paid $1,000 for each steamer to the Labour Union.

UNIVERSITY UNION.

LAST NIGHT'S FAREWELL GATHERING FOR SIR CLAUD SEVERN.

Members of the Hongkong University Union held a gathering at the Assembly Hall last evening to bid "good-bye" to the Hon. Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., C.M.G., and to receive a farewell address from him.

Two presentations were made to Sir Claud, one from the members of the Union and the other from the University Union Cricket Club.

The gift from the Union consisted of a set of ten Chinese books. The Cricket Club's present was a cricket ball mounted on three silver cricket stumps. On the stand was a small silver plate bearing the inscription "Well Bowled Sir." On the ball was a silver plate with the inscription "Sir Claud Severn. Hat Trick v. the C.R.C., February 7th, 1925, from the members of the H.K.U.C.C."

Those presents included Mr. C. Z. M. Ma (Chairman of the University Union), Mr. W. W. Hornell, M.A., C.I.E. (Vice-Chancellor of the Hongkong University), Professor C. Middleton Smith, Professor F. Redmond, Professor L. Foster (Registrar of the University), Mr. C. Ko (Secretary), and Mr. A. A. Ramjahn (Captain of the Cricket Club).

PRESENTATION MADE.

Mr. Ma, who presided, referred to the time that Sir Claud Severn had devoted to the interests of the University and the Union. (Applause.) It was mainly with the Union that Sir Claud had been connected. (Applause.) He was one of the vice-presidents of that body and an officer of other clubs as well. One of Sir Claud's greatest services had been the creation of a $5,000 ground extension fund. The beauty of their pavilion was entirely due to Sir Claud's efforts. It now fell to the speaker to convey to Sir Claud the Union's sincere and deepest gratitude, and regret at his departure. In acknowledgment of his services they asked him to accept the gift of Chinese books. However insignificant their gift might be behind it was their goodwill and best wishes for a pleasant trip home and happy life in England. Mr. Ma then handed the gift to Sir Claud.

CRICKET CLUB'S GIFT.

Mr. Ramjahn, on behalf of the University Cricket Club, said that in the absence of Mr. Gittins, the Cricket Club's Chairman, he had been asked to say a few words on behalf of the Club. It was through Sir Claud's efforts that the Cricket Club had become the premier club of the Union. (Applause.) Ever since Sir Claud had been president of the Cricket Club had enjoyed confidence and continued success. It was due to this confidence that the Cricket XI, managed to keep the Cricket Shield at Pokfulam for a year. (Applause.) Mr. Ma had only mentioned the pavilion improvement and the ground extension fund and he would like to say that it was due to this fund that the pavilion was in the very comfortable state it was now. It used to be called the "Hermie's Cot" many years ago. (Laughter.) Recently a cricketer from the town told the speaker that it was the most beautiful pavilion in the Colony. (Applause.) The ground extension had undoubtedly improved the standard of cricket and tennis at the University. What was described some years ago as a piece of velvet. Sir Claud had directly or indirectly improved the athletics of the Union in general and the Cricket Club in particular. He would never forget the match when Sir Claud turned the tables against the Chinese Recreation Club, by performing the hat trick.

The speaker concluded by asking Sir Claud to accept the Cricket Club's best wishes for a prosperous future and handed him the cricketers' gift.

SIR CLAUD'S REPLY.

Sir Claud Severn, in a humorous speech, said that of all functions he had attended during the last days he had to spend all because he had been closely associated with the University since it started. (Applause.) He had been invited to give a farewell address to the members of the Union before he left the Colony on a subject to be selected by himself. He was not capable of adding anyone on more than a very few subjects in an edifying manner and therefore he considered it better if he confined himself to general remarks. He was not like a remarkable member of the British House of Commons, Sir Frederick Bantury, who would invariably get up at the critical time when the opposition wanted a division and say he was always ready to talk at any time, on any subject and at any length.

Sir Claud then proceeded to recall many interesting reminiscences with regard to his connection with the University Union and Cricket Club. Sir Claud also dealt with various duties he had performed in connection with his Pro-Chancellorship of the University and referred to the time of Sir Charles Elliot. He also recalled the time when the degree of LL.D. was conferred on him and the amusing scenes which followed this honour. He thanked them for the kind gifts and said that the cricket ball on the stand would be the fourth he would now have to show his son, when he was old enough to appreciate what his father had done. He had two for the hat trick. He did not like to leave the Colony and would return again with his wife if he could persuade her to come back.

CANTON MERCHANTS' COMMITTEE.

CONFERENCE WITH LABOUR UNIONS. POSSIBILITIES OF ENDING THE STRIKE.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

A committee of Canton Chinese merchants has been appointed to confer with the Labour Union leaders regarding the possibility of ending the anti-British boycott and strike at an early date. At a joint meeting of the four leading commercial guilds of Canton, on November 9th, the members of the committee chosen were Wu Chung Tong and Chan Yuan Fung, representing the General Chamber of Commerce of Canton; Lum Lai Shang and Lau Tung Ping, Associated Chambers of Commerce of Kwangtung Province; Leung Pui Kie and Yeung Kung Wai, the Canton City Merchants Association; and Poon Kum Hong and Hui Kien Sum, Traders League.

As from November 11th, the Canton Strike Committee will again issue permits to persons who require to visit Hongkong or Macao on business. The permits will be issued under the usual conditions, one of which is that a return to Canton must be made within seven days.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

Official accounts of the great fire in Canton on October 19th, state that the losses incurred by the 150 firms involved amount to 8738,950. Of this sum 8315,000 is covered by insurance.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Teachers of the public schools in Canton are appealing to Dr. C. C. Wu, chairman of the Canton Municipal Council, not to cut their pay by 50 per cent. The minimum monthly salary of a public school teacher in Canton is 832, local currency.

THE MILITARY SITUATION.

The Kuomintang Army in Swatow has formally announced that the districts of Chaochow, including Swatow, are now free of anti-Reds. It is the intention of the Reds to divide these districts into two separate military commands, one at Waichow and the other at Swatow. Two brigades of anti-Reds in the Eastern district of Kwangtung, unwilling to leave for Fukien with the other defeated troops of General Chan Kwing Ming, have turned "Red." These two brigades, led by Tse Man Ping, were defeated, it is said, before the Red advance towards Swatow.

Anti-Red forces in Southern Kwangtung, although not undertaking any offensive, do not appear to be withdrawing. A report says that a detachment of the anti-Reds has occupied Loting, a West River district, and that a considerable force is at Yeungkong waiting the approach of the Reds.

The Kuomintang Reds, however will not allow matters to remain in this state, and there is every indication that there will be some serious fighting in the South before long.

In conclusion, Sir Claud asked the members of the Union to remain as united a body as they had always done in the past. He had brought them a portrait of himself which he would present with the permission of those who gave it to him and his wife on the occasion of their marriage, namely the members and staff of the Supreme Court. The portrait had been done by a Chinese artist. He asked them to find a place for it, and regard it as a gift not only from himself, but also from those who gave it to him. He had given them a piano six years ago and requested them not to ill use it by doing such things as to pour beer into it and now it was in the Great Hall of the University and he understood that it was still usable. (Applause and laughter.) He advised them to take care of whatever property they might have so that their successors would value it. After again returning thanks, Sir Claud resumed his seat amid loud and prolonged applause.

MR. MA'S THANKS.

Mr. Ma returned thanks to Sir Claud for his farewell address and for the portrait, which he said would always serve to remind them, if any reminder was necessary, of his association with the Union. They would never forget the encouragement he had given them and the way in which he had inspired them to greater efforts. He hoped that Sir Claud's interest in the Union would continue.

The Vice-Chancellor, Mr. Hornell, wound up the proceedings by referring to his early experiences at the University and his association with Sir Claud. He referred in enthusiastic terms to Sir Claud's prowess as a bowler and recalled various cricket incidents in which he and Sir Claud had been associated. Concluding, Mr. Hornell said that Sir Claud and given the Union some very sage advice. He must confess that one of the greatest pleasures of his present post was the athletic activities of the Union. The success was largely due to people like Sir Claud and Mr. Ponsbury Fane. He thanked Sir Claud most heartily for all he had done and on behalf of the Union wished him long life and prosperity. Sir Claud Severn briefly replied, after which refreshments were served.

CRITICS OF THE GOVERNMENT

AT HOME.

It is evident from a study of the political situation at home that the Conservative Government have been steadily losing in popularity during recent months.

In this instance it is not the inevitable ebb of opinion which may always be expected in regard to an Administration after a few months of office—the disappointment of simple souls who fondly imagined that a new heaven and earth would materialise. It is on their record after ten months that the Government are being judged and "damned with faint praise" even by their political supporters.

The fact was plainly apparent at the Conservative Conference at Brighton. The candid critics were present in great force and exceedingly vocal. The chief ground of complaint on the part of Conservatives is, not that the Government have done those things which they ought not to have done, but that they have not done those things which called for prompt attention.

Mr. Baldwin's speech at the Conference disclosed that he has failed to gauge public opinion aright. Perhaps this is not altogether surprising in a statesman who recently boasted in a light-hearted way that all the time he was on holiday abroad he never looked at a newspaper. Anyway, he certainly does not know what people in England are saying and thinking. He appears to believe that criticism by members of his own Party is purely malicious and destructive. That, however, is a mistaken idea.

The truth is that there is widespread disappointment with the performance of the Government. In some respects the blame is undeserved, as is always the way, but what most disturbs the peace of mind of their admirers and well-wishers is that the high hopes entertained of a period of stability and economical administration have not been realised. There has been a strange lack of vision and purpose which were necessary to impart that "uplift" to the prosperity and prestige of the country that were sorely needed after the performance of the late Labour Government. First in the list of sins of omission is placed the failure to deal promptly and effectively with the "Red" elements in the country. It has offended the sense and the feelings of every law-abiding citizen to watch the most violent type of agitators rampaging through the land at will, creating strife in the industrial centres, and among other things, organising a "hold-up" of shipping in the chief ports—this latter being part of a world-wide movement which has caused untold loss in different parts of the Empire. The ordinary man has been unable to understand why Ministers, although armed with ample powers, sit still for months until quite recently, and watched the activities of the Communists when the whole force of public opinion would have been behind the Government in dealing with these evil doers.

There was, as we have observed, candid criticism at the Brighton Conference, at which the Prime Minister delivered a soothing speech. Mr. Baldwin and his Cabinet colleagues learned from prominent Party men that the power of political extremists for mischief will have to be curbed. One of the manifestations of this power has been seen in the recurring threats to organise strikes on a scale designed to stop national services. Their methods are akin to those of the highwayman who holds a pistol at his victim's head as the most effective way of getting everything he wants. There exists under the authority of Parliament machinery adequate to the settlement of all genuine industrial disputes, and all that the British people desire is that the Government shall see that this machinery is maintained in good working order. But if, in spite of all, strikes should occur public opinion demands that the Government shall maintain law and order, and see that the services necessary to the life of the nation are carried on. Mr. Baldwin stated a sound principle when he laid it down that every community has a right to protect itself, whether aggression comes from without in the form of war, or from within in the deprivation of food and other essentials. The supply of these necessities should not, in the opinion of critics of the Government, be left to the pleasure of any section, but it is the business of the community, with the active assistance of the Government, to organise itself against any possible danger from whatever source emanating. We in Hongkong know something of the danger of a stoppage of essential services; and it is important to note that in Britain the grave danger of this form of threat against the life of the people as a whole is clearly realised, and that those holding the reins of power are expected to devise protective measures which can be instantly put into operation if and when the need arises.

There are, of course, other questions which have changed the attitude of the ordinary man towards the Government. He considers that the mining industry ought not to have had £10,000,000, which is regarded as a temporary sop to avert trouble, and need not have been paid if the crisis in the coal-fields had been tackled in time. Then, nothing has been effected in the way of national economy, a reduction of expenditure which is considered essential to the restoration of British trade. Instead of economy the country is committed to an extra burden of £700 millions for widows' pensions, which has been put on the capital liabilities of the taxpayers. Mr. Churchill, it is being said, has signally failed as the masterful man; in fact, he has proved himself a rather weak and complacent Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The dispute with Turkey over Mosul has also aroused grave misgivings at home, the fear being entertained—and not without reason—that British commitments in Iraq may prove a bone of contention for many years to come. These are among the causes which have produced a sense of disappointment regarding Mr. Baldwin's stewardship during the last year. There is good reason to believe, however, that the criticism of his friends and supporters will have the effect of clearing the political atmosphere, and will convince the Government that what the country demands is firm and straightforward management of national affairs at home and abroad, as opposed to a policy of drift and opportunism.

Sunday will be observed as Victoria Diocesan Association Sunday.

A delightful exhibition of formation flying was given by the planes of H.M.S. Hermes yesterday morning.

The weekly Police dance, which is usually held on Wednesday evenings, is being held to-morrow evening.

His Honour Sir Henry Cowper Gollan, the Chief Justice of Hongkong is expected to arrive back in the Colony to-morrow.

Sunday, November 22nd, is Hospital Sunday and the collections at various Churches on that day will be allocated to local hospitals.

A dance arranged by the ship's company of H.M.S. Ambrose is being held at the Royal Naval Canteen Theatre to-morrow evening.

A very enjoyable concert was given at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home last evening. There was a large attendance, of members of both services.

A reception is being held this evening at 5.30 at the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders to bid farewell to the Hon. Vice-President, Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., C.M.G.

The master of the s.s. Andre Lebon reported to the Harbour Office yesterday that a junk which had been abandoned on fire was sighted drifting in Latitude 22.33 N. Longitude 115.28 E.

The Shanghai Sunday Times learns from a reliable source that Mr. A. W. Olsen, Secretary of the Shanghai Race Club, was the lucky winner of the Tientsin Champions Sweep. The prize was $47,200.

Mr. William Heughan, the famous Scottish singer, assisted by Hyman Lenzor, violinist, and Gladys Sayer, pianist, will give the first of his concerts at the Theatre Royal to-night, at 9.15 p.m. The second concert will be given on Saturday night.

The sale of leasehold property at Nos. 27, 29, 31 and 33, On Yau Street, Sham Shui Po, by order of the mortgagee, which had been arranged to take place at the Auctioneering and Broking Company's sale rooms yesterday afternoon, was postponed until this afternoon at three o'clock.

During blasting operations at Morrison Hill, Happy Valley, on Tuesday evening, a large piece of granite, three feet in length and several pounds in weight, crashed through one of the windows of the Civil Service Club. It grazed across the club room, and narrowly missed the heads of several members present.

The first of a series of concerts arranged by Mr. Mason in aid of the Organ Fund, takes place this evening in the St. John's Cathedral Hall. Among those taking part in the programme, in addition to Mr. Frederick Mason, are Sir Claud Severn, Mrs. S. Collett, Mrs. L. C. F. Bellamy, Mr. H. E. Gardner and Mr. G. H. Piercy.

MR. H. H. J. GOMPERTZ' NEW APPOINTMENT.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE F.M.S.

Mr. H. H. J. Gompertz, the Puisne Judge of Hongkong who is now acting as Chief Justice during the absence of Sir Henry Gollan in Shanghai, has been offered and has accepted the position of Chief Justice of the Federated Malay States. He will leave the Colony to take up his new post by the s.s. Sarpedon on November 14th. The appointment represents very considerable promotion and although many residents will be sorry to lose Mr. Gompertz, who has been in the Government service of the Colony since 1897, all will congratulate him upon what is generally regarded as due recognition of a long and distinguished record of public work. Formerly, the position which Mr. Gompertz is now to occupy was known as that of Chief Judicial Commissioner of the Federated Malay States. The title was changed to Chief Justice only recently. Mr. Gompertz' headquarters will be at Kuala Lumpur.

Born in 1867, Mr. Henry Hessey Johnston Gompertz was educated at Bedford School and at Exeter College, Oxford, where he graduated with second class honours in the classical school in 1890. He entered the Cadet Service of the Straits Settlements the same year and remained in the Straits until 1897, when he was transferred to Hongkong as Assistant Registrar-General. In going to the F.M.S., therefore, Mr. Gompertz is returning to a country with which he is already familiar and where he still has many friends. He was called to the Bar by Lincoln's Inn in 1890 and since then, with the exception of a short period as Assistant Colonial Secretary, he has continuously held legal and judicial offices in the Colony. He was acting Attorney-General in 1907 and at this period also carried out the duties of Editor of the Hongkong Law Reports. He was appointed Puisne Judge in 1909 and has acted as Chief Justice on many occasions. Mr. Gompertz only returned from Home leave a few weeks ago.

MISS CAPELL'S PUPILS.

MATINEE AT THEATRE ROYAL.

There was a large audience at the Theatre Royal yesterday evening, when a second dancing display was given by Miss Violet Capell's pupils. The same programme that was carried through on Saturday night, was again presented, and, as on the previous occasion, was exceedingly well received. The little dancers were presented with gifts and bouquets by parents, friends and members of the audience. Not one was forgotten.

Part of the proceeds from the exhibition were devoted to the London Hospitals.

His dance

WHEN he claims you for his dance, will you surrender your arms gracefully and gladly? Or will the knowledge of superfluous hair distress you? It is unnecessary—inevitable—to allow unsightly hair to mar the clean lines of your arms. For X-BAZIN is so simple to use, so safe, so successful.

In as little time as it takes to polish your nails, this pleasantly perfumed depilatory powder or paste will rid you of every disfiguring hair—underarm, fore-arm or neck. You simply apply the powder or paste; in a few minutes wipe it off. For over a hundred years French women have guarded their immaculateness with this dainty treatment. It does not coarsen, darken, or encourage subsequent growth; its mission is one of beauty alone.

SCOTTISH SPORT. SURPRISES IN THE LEAGUE. RUGBY GOING STRONG. [FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

EDINBURGH, October 11th
St. Mirren are opening the season well; they beat Hibernians and remain at the top of the table; and the only game they have lost was to Rangers. Their supporters hope that they will make a strong bid for the Championship. The big event, was the meeting of Airdrieonians and Celtic, and it provided a remarkable result in so far that Celtic, after a beginning all in their favour, lost by the margin of 5 goals to 1. Celtic's defence must bear the responsibility for the heavy figure against them. Rangers made progress by disposing of Kilmarnock, the Ayrshire Club providing weak opposition against a Rangers eleven in which several reserve players figured with success. Queen's Park had a valuable win over Partick Thistle, marred by an unfortunate accident to one of the Firhill players, their right back, having his leg fractured in a collision with the "Amateurs" centre-forward, Heart of Midlothian with the eleven that disposed of Rangers a week earlier were beaten at Dundee by the only goal scored, and that from a penalty award. The Edinburgh team were unfortunate in losing, but are still well placed in the table. The two prominent clubs, Clydebank and Dundee United, met for the first time in the higher circle, and the first-named secured an initial victory by the substantial margin of 4-1. Strenuous endeavour rather than studied football marked the contest, and it is evident that Dundee United as at present constituted are "not of First Division standard." Further disaster also befell St. Johnstone, who were completely outplayed and overwhelmed by Hamilton Academicals, and descended to bottom position.

RUGBY

West of Scotland opened their season in disappointing fashion, Glasgow Academicals routing them with ease. Glasgow High School F.P.'s, playing better football than they have yet shown this season, completely outplayed Hillhead High School F.P.'s, and won comfortably. In all departments the High School outclassed their opponents, and with their forwards easily superior their backs had numerous chances, which they utilised to the full. The young and light fifteen of Kelvinside Academicals found the Edinburgh Wanderers rather heavy for them. The most interesting game in the East was that where the Watsonians met the Institution. Speculation was rife as to whether Institution's three wins were got at the expense of weak opposition or whether they were really a much-improved team. Up to a point they were fairly good, but beyond that they could not get. There was too much resemblance to the bull in the China shop in their methods, and their play was lacking both in finesse and speed. The game between Stewarts and Airdrieonians was practically confined to the forwards, and had little colour.

GOLF AT ST. ANDREW'S

The autumn meeting of the Royal and Ancient Club is always prefaced by a spectacular event, when the captain-elect drives himself into office, and last week's ceremony followed traditional lines. It lacked, of course, the lustre shed upon it by royalty, but the public interest was a tribute to the popularity of the club. A fine figure of a man, big and broad of shoulder, and one who fits the stories of big hitting with which his name has come down from the days of the "gutter" ball. As he took his stance firmly he was an expression of sureness and power. He was in no awe of his official tee stroke. To him it was as "easy as winking." When he got the signal to play, he swung without any delay or deliberation, and dispatched the ball, clean as a whistle, over 200 yards—a fine, low-flying ball that would have gone a bit farther if it had not been stopped. It was one of the best drives ever made on this ceremonial occasion; Andra Kirkcaldy says it was the finest in his recollection.

The result of the first day's play was that Cyril Tolley, J. W. Jeffrey, and J. R. Pelham-Burn tied for the King William Fourth and the club's gold medals at 74, while Tolley won the George Glenie medal for best aggregate over spring and autumn meetings. On the second day, on the replay, Mr. Tolley won the King William Fourth medal and Mr. Jeffrey the gold medal.

£30,000,000 ESTATE.

DEATH OF MR. J. B. DUKE. MAN WHO LED TOBACCO WAR ON BRITAIN.

New York, October 11th.
Mr. James Buchanan Duke, the tobacco magnate, died last night at his Fifth Avenue residence, leaving a fortune estimated at £30,000,000. He was popularly described as "one of the last of the log-cabin successes of American life," for he was born 83 years ago in poverty on a small farm in North Carolina. His father grew tobacco, which James Buchanan and his brothers peddled about the country-side. In 1870 they started a small tobacco factory and James Buchanan was, at the age of 14, its manager. This was the business which by masterly consolidations developed into the mammoth tobacco trust, the American Tobacco Company.

Mr. J. B. Duke was a magnificent philanthropist. Only last year he gave $11,000,000 for educational establishments.

He attributed his success to a capacity for hard work. About 25 years ago Mr. Duke went to London to try to capture the British market. Buying up a Liverpool company, he started a price war, flooding the country with cheap cigarettes. He also introduced a system of bonuses and premiums to retailers.

To meet the attack most of the British tobacco manufacturers combined and formed the Imperial Tobacco Company, and some of them retaliated by entering the American market. After a bitter and costly fight Mr. Duke and the British firms agreed to the formation of the British-American Company, and the home trade was left to the Imperial Company.

LORD BIRKENHEAD'S FEES.

Litigation followed with regard to the bonuses, and this lasted about three years. Lord Birkenhead (then Mr. F. E. Smith) was one of the counsel engaged, and at a banquet to celebrate the settlement he said that his fees in the dispute had enabled him to marry and set up his home.
